DATE. — Early in the Nineteenth Century.

The Opera produced under the Musical Direction of MR. IVAN CARYLL.

ACT I.

SCENE. A mountain Inn on a picturesque Sicilian pass. A range of mountains, with Etna in the distance. In the middle distance, a Monastery on a steep rocky elevation.

As the curtain rises, a procession of Dominican Monks winds down the set pieces on the stage.

N° 1 - CHAUNT.

Miserere!
Umbra fere,
Pauper sum diabolus.
Semper dolens —
Nolens, volens,
Monachus moestissimus!
Quum oramus
Jejunamus —
Eheu! otiose dens!
Sitiens sumque,
Ac, plerumque,
Acriter esuriens!

The procession of Monks exit. As they are going off, GIORGIO, a member of the Tamorra Secret Society, appears on the set, and watches them off. As soon as the coast is clear, he comes down, and beckons to the rest of the band, who, headed by LUIGI, appear from various entrances, and come down mysteriously.

CHORUS OF TAMORRAS.

We are members of a Secret Society, (hush!)
Working by the moon's uncertain disc;
Our motto is "Revenge without Anxiety" —
That is, without unnecessary risk. (hush!)
We spend our nights on damp straw and squalid hay
When trade is not particularly brisk; (hush!)
But now and then we take a little holiday,
And spend our honest earnings in a frisk. (hush!)

GIORGIO.

Five hundred years ago,
My ancestor's next door neighbour

Had a mother whose brother,
By some means or other,
Incurred three months' hard labour.

CHORUS. Three months' hard labour!

GIORGIO. This wrongful sentence, though,
On his head he contrived to do it,
As it tarnished our 'scutcheon,
Which ne'er had a touch on,
We swore mankind should rue it!

ALL. Yes — yes — yes!
We swore mankind should rue it!

So we're members of a Secret Society, (hush!)
Working by the moon's uncertain disc;
Our motto is "Revenge without Anxiety" —
That is, without unnecessary risk.

Enter from Inn, ELVINO DI PASTA.

ELVINO. Bless my heart, what are you all doing here? How comes it that you have ventured in so large a body so near to the confines of civilization? And by daylight, too! It seems rash.

GIORGIO. Elvino, we are here under circumstances of a romantic and sentimental description. We are all going to be married!

ELVINO. What, all of you?

LUIGI. One each day during the next three weeks. What do you say to that?

ELVINO. Why, that it strikes at the root of your existence as a Secret Society, that's all. And who is to be the first?

GIORGIO. The first is Risotto, who went down to the village this morning, disguised as a stockbroker, to be married to Minestra, and we expect the happy couple back every minute. The next is Giuseppe, he's to be married tomorrow, Luigi on Thursday, and so on until we are all worked off. As we are twenty-four in number, that will occupy twenty-four days, which are to be passed in unceasing revelry — and our captain, Arrostitino, intends to confer upon you the benefit of our custom.

ELVINO. There I think he is right. I am out of wine just now, but I have a family prescription for fine old crusted Chianti, which I will send to the nearest chemist to be compounded at once. There's only one thing for which I must stipulate; let these revels be as joyous, as reckless, as rollicking as you please — only, let them be conducted in a whisper.

LUIGI. What, because we are a Secret Society? We are not as secret as all that.

ELVINO. No; but because there is a considerable portion of a poor old Alchemist on the second floor who is extremely unwell. You wouldn't go for to disturb the dying moments of a considerable portion of a poor old Alchemist?

GIORGIO. You are unusually considerate. What's the matter with him?

ELVINO. Why, the poor old boy is continually blowing himself up with dynamite in his researches after the Philosopher's Stone. Well, that's nothing — it's all in the day's work, and he's used to it. But this time he has blown himself up worse than usual, and several of the bits are missing; if you come across anything of the kind they are his, and I'm sure you'll behave honorably, and give them up at once.

GIORGIO. We swear!

ELVINO. Bless you! Now the Alchemist has hitherto paid for his board and lodging in halfpence, with a written undertaking to turn them all into gold as soon as his discovery is completed; consequently the dictates of common humanity prompt us to give him every chance. (Noise of explosion within.) Up he goes again! Excuse me one minute, while I go and collect him. [Exit ELVINO.]

Enter Chorus of Village Girls, dancing, and heralding the approach of RISOTTO and MINESTRA.

N° 2 - CHORUS OF GIRLS.

GIRLS. Come all the maidens in merry community;
Gay and jocose,
Hither we wend.
Risotto, Minestra, are knitted in unity;
Nobody knows
How it will end.
Risotto is handsome and really delectable —
Stalwart and tall;
Second to none.
Minestra, nice-looking and very respectable.
So we are all —
Every one.
ALL. So {you/we} are all —
Every one.

Enter RISOTTO and MINESTRA.

N° 3 - DUET. — RISOTTO and MINESTRA.

MINESTRA. If you please, I'm now a member of your band —
RISOTTO. If you please, she's —
MINESTRA. Now allow me, pray, to speak.
I am married —
RISOTTO. She's my wife, you understand.
MINESTRA. If you interrupt, I'll leave you in a week.

RISOTTO. I really think I might —
 MINESTRA. You are very impolite!
 RISOTTO. But I wanted to explain —
 MINESTRA. Now, there you go again!
           If you kindly will permit me,
           I can properly acquit me:
           I'm a lady!
 RISOTTO. She's a lady!
 MINESTRA. Very good, then I refrain!

RISOTTO. Allow me to present to you — my wife!
 MINESTRA. I think you'd better keep her to yourself.
 RISOTTO. She's the treasure and the pleasure of my life —
 MINESTRA. I dare say— until she's laid upon the shelf!
 RISOTTO. She's a poem, she's a song —
 MINESTRA (relenting). You don't mean it — go along!
 RISOTTO. I shall love her when she's grey!
 MINESTRA. Will you really? — I dare say;
           With your snapping and your snarling!
 RISOTTO. You're a dear, and you're a darling!
 MINESTRA. Do you mean it?
 RISOTTO. Yes I mean it!
 BOTH. Oh, my darling! Oh, my dear!

Enter ARROSTINO.

GIORGIO. Three secret cheers for the Captain!
 ALL (pianissimo). Hurrah! hurrah! hurrah!

ARROSTINO. How do? How do? Ah! the bride and bridegroom. Allow me. (kisses her.)
 Charming — at least I think so — another (kisses her again) — yes, charming.
 Risotto, my poor fellow, accept my condolences.

RISOTTO. Condolences? You don't see anything wrong with her?
 ARROSTINO. With her? Oh, no — not with her. My dear friend, she's bewitching. (To MINESTRA.) You are bewitching, aren't you?
 MINESTRA. I believe I'm nice.
 ARROSTINO. You do? I'm delighted to hear it on such good authority.
 RISOTTO. Still, I don't see why you should condole with me.
 ARROSTINO. Don't you? Never mind — you will. Now tell me, Minestra, candidly — what was it you saw in him to admire? It's not his face, of course; nor his figure — we'll put them out of the question. It couldn't be his conversation, because he hasn't any.
 MINESTRA. I don't know. He's got a way with him.
 ARROSTINO. Has he got it with him now?

MINESTRA. I don't know. I suppose so.

ARROSTINO (imperatively). Risotto, give us an example of the way you have with you.

RISOTTO. It's something like this — (business of ogling).

ARROSTINO. Oh, but my dear girl — really — dear, dear, dear!

MINESTRA (apologetically). You've got to be nearer to him for it to tell.

ARROSTINO. Well, but even then! Now, look at it in cold blood. Think of it ten years hence — when the novelty's worn off.

MINESTRA. It does look foolish from here. Oh, I almost wish I hadn't!

RISOTTO. My dear! (Consoling her.)

MINESTRA. Don't — I'm so inexperienced!

ARROSTINO. I suppose so. Pity — pity! Never mind — next time you'll be older. Now girls, I have some news for you: the Duke and Duchess of Palavicini are to pass through the village on their way to Palermo. You don't see a real Duke and Duchess every day, so the best thing you can do is run down and prepare to receive them.

1ST GIRL. A real Duke and Duchess! Oh, that will be delightful.

N<sup>o</sup> 4 - CHORUS OF GIRLS.

Only think, a Duke and Duchess!
Oh, but we are lucky lasses!
Hie we to our looking-glasses
For a few artistic touches.
Let us decorate our tresses
Ere the grand procession passes,
And receive the upper classes
In our most becoming dresses!

SOLO. — MINESTRA.

Go and wash your pretty faces,
Dress in ribbons and in laces,
Or expect from both their Graces
A well-merited rebuke;
And your hair I pray you frizz it —
For it isn't often — is it? —
That you're favoured with a visit
From a Duchess and a Duke!

CHORUS.

Yes, we'll wash our pretty faces,
Dress in ribbons and in laces,
For it isn't often — is it? —
That we're favoured with a visit
From a Duke and from a Duchess,
From a Duchess and a Duke!

[Exeunt Girls — all but MINESTRA.]

- ARROSTINO. Now then, to business. Anything to report?
- GIORGIO. Yes. A travelling Englishman passed our encampment this morning.
- ARROSTINO. Good. We have a vendetta against all travelling Englishmen. The relation of our ancestor's neighbour was arrested by a travelling Englishman. Well?
- GIORGIO. No — very bad. The cowardly ruffian was armed.
- ARROSTINO. What a lily-livered hound! That's so like these Englishmen. This growing habit of carrying revolvers is the curse of our profession. Anything else?
- LUIGI. Only an old market-woman on a mule.
- ARROSTINO. Well, we have a vendetta against all old market-women on a mule. The principal evidence against the relation of our ancestors' neighbor was an old market-woman on a mule. Did you arrest her?
- LUIGI. We were about to do so, but she passed us in silent contempt.
- ARROSTINO. Humph! This growing habit of passing us in silent contempt strikes at the very root of our little earnings. Of course you could do nothing?
- GIORGIO. Nothing whatever. You see, as we are all to be married in the next three weeks, we are bound, as men of honour, to hand over our personal charms in the same condition of substantial and decorative repair that they were in when we captivated these confiding creatures.
- ARROSTINO. Naturally. It is plain that a man who offers a girl his hand and comes to claim her with his arm amputated at the shoulder, is no longer in a position to fulfil his contract. A man who proposes with a Roman nose and turns up at the altar with a snub is guilty of flat dishonesty, on the face of it. At the same time, that's no reason why you shouldn't pick off the bits of cotton wool in which you are in the habit of putting yourselves away at night. (Picking scraps of wool from the coats of LUIGI and GIORGIO.) To people who are unacquainted with the circumstances it might look a little unmanly. I don't know — perhaps not. (Replacing the scraps of wool on their coats.) However, take heart. I have an enterprise in hand which promises the very maximum of profit with the very minimum of risk. The Duke and Duchess — I believe we have a vendetta against all Dukes and Duchesses?
- GIORGIO. The judge who sentenced the relation of our ancestor's neighbour would have been a duke if they had created him one.

ARROSTINO. The scoundrel! Then I intend to secure this Duke and Duchess.

GIORGIO. Ah! But how? Remember the motto of our band — “Heroism without risk.”

ARROSTINO. We shall do it diplomatically, of course. In the first place, we shall seize on yonder monastery —

LUIGI. When the monks are asleep?

ARROSTINO. Why, of course — and dress ourselves in their robes. In the mean time, Minestra, disguised as an old woman, will lure the Duke away from his escort and into our power.

MINESTRA. I think I could do it better as a young woman.

ARROSTINO. Nonsense, you little goose — you know nothing about it! Listen!

N<sup>o</sup> 5 - SONG. — ARROSTINO.

The Duke and the Duchess as they travel through the lands
 With the clips of their whips and their high jerry ho!
 Will pass by the rock where that monastery stands,
 In a first-class fine-folk fashion,
 With their high jerry ho!
 Their postilion in vermilion
 And the rattle of their cattle,
 And their high jerry ho!

CHORUS. With their high jerry ho! etc.

ARROSTINO. Minestra they'll find as a tottering old crone,
 With her moans and her groans and her high jerry ho!
 Who has tumbled down the rock, and is lying all alone,
 And her cries will excite their compassion —
 With her high jerry ho!
 And her cropper so improper
 And her fussy, “Lawk ha' mussy,”
 And her high jerry ho!

CHORUS. With her high jerry ho! etc.

ARROSTINO. She'll beg that the Duke will convey her to the friars,
 With their splint and their lint and their high jerry ho!
 Then he'll take her up at once through the brambles and the briars;
 And her woes to the monks she'll explain them,
 With their high jerry ho!
 With their wrappings and their strappings,
 And their cackle on diachylon —
 Their high jerry ho!

CHORUS. With their high jerry ho! etc.

ARROSTINO. By this time the monks will have fallen in our clutches,

With their cries of surprise and their high jerry ho!
And, disguised in their robes, we'll receive the Duke and Duchess;
And in custody close we'll detain them,
With their high jerry ho!
And the pusses of those cusses,
And a ransom very handsome
And a high jerry ho!
With their high jerry ho! etc.

CHORUS.

[Exeunt all.]

Enter ALFREDO.

N<sup>o</sup> 6 - RECITATIVE. — ALFREDO.

Teresa! little word so glibly spoken!
Take pity on a heart that's all but broken!
Teresa! one-word poem trisyllabic;
An Eastern ode in sensuous Arabic —
Would that thou wert as tender in thy nature
As in thy soft and tender nomenclature!

BALLAD. — ALFREDO.

Bedecked in fashion trim,
With ev'ry curl a-quiver;
Or leaping, light of limb,
O'er rivulet and river;
Or skipping o'er the lea
On daffodil and daisy;
Or stretched beneath a tree,
All languishing and lazy —
Whatever be her mood;
Be she demurely prude,
Or languishingly lazy;
My lady drives me crazy!
In vain her heart is wooed,
Whatever be her mood!

What profit should I gain
Suppose she loved me dearly?
Her coldness turns my brain
To verge of madness nearly.
Her kiss — though, Heaven knows,
To dream of it were treason —
Would tend, as I suppose,
To utter loss of reason!
My state is not amiss;

I would not have a kiss
Which, in or out of season,
Might tend to loss of reason:
What profit in such bliss?
A fig for such a kiss!

ALFREDO. What shabby things a man will do when he's eaten up with jealousy! But what a comfort those shabby things are to him! To prevent Teresa joining the Tamorras with the other girls, I was mean enough to bribe a farm girl to lock her in her room! I'm disgusted with myself for having stooped to such a contemptible act. Still, I'm very glad I did it.

Enter TERESA.

ALFREDO. Teresa! You here?

TERESA. Didn't expect me, I fancy?

ALFREDO. No — I —

TERESA. Locked me in my room, didn't you? Well, I escaped through the window.

ALFREDO. Never thought of the window! However, you are too late — the Tamorras have gone. Ah! forgive me; I couldn't bear the thought of your spending the day with them.

TERESA. My dear Alfredo, now do you really think I am the sort of girl who would throw herself away upon a contemptible outlaw? Why, I'd much sooner marry you!

ALFREDO (delighted). You would? My darling! (Putting his arm round her.)

TERESA. Infinitely. Don't.

ALFREDO. Why not?

TERESA. It's a liberty.

ALFREDO. But after the tender avowal you have just made, surely I may be permitted —

TERESA. My dear Alfredo, you jump at conclusions. I said I would rather throw myself away on a respectable young farmer than on a contemptible outlaw. But I haven't the smallest intention of throwing myself away on either.

ALFREDO. Teresa, have some pity on me; I am so desperately in love with you. I have founded my hopes of happiness upon you, for you are the very air I breathe, the very sunlight of my life!

TERESA. You are, of course, quite at liberty to profit by any light I may happen to emit; but without wishing to say a word that would hurt your feelings, it is only right to tell you that I look a great deal higher than a mere clod-hopper. For you do hop clods, you know.

ALFREDO. I have certainly hopped some in my time.

TERESA. It's not my own idea. To be quite candid with you, I have often wondered what people can see in me to admire. Personally, I have a poor opinion of my attractions. They are not at all what I would have chosen if I had had a voice in the matter. But the conviction that I am a remarkably attractive girl is so generally entertained that, in common modesty, I feel bound to yield to the pressure of popular sentiment, and to look upon myself as an ineffective working minority.

ALFREDO. But you used to like me.

TERESA. Decidedly. Personally, I entertain a great admiration for you. I think you extremely good-looking.

ALFREDO (delighted). Teresa!

TERESA. But the general opinion on the subject of your good looks is so entirely against me that (again regarding myself as an ineffective working minority) I feel bound to yield to the pressure of popular prejudice, and admit that you cannot be as good-looking as I feel sure you are.

ALFREDO (despondingly). Perhaps not.

N<sup>o</sup> 7 - BALLAD. — TERESA.

It's my opinion — though I own
 In thinking so I'm quite alone —
 In some respects I'm but a fright.
You like my features, I suppose?
I'm disappointed with my nose:
 Some rave about it — perhaps they're right.
 My figure just sets off a fit;
 But when they say it's exquisite
 (And they do say so), that's too strong.
 I hope I'm not what people call
 Opinionated. After all,
 I'm but a goose, and may be wrong!
 When charms enthrall
 There's some excuse
 For measures strong;
 And, after all,
 I'm but a goose,
 And may be wrong!

My teeth are very neat, no doubt;
 But, after all, they may fall out:
I think they will — some think they won't.
 My hands are small, as you may see,
 But not as small as they might be,
 At least, I think so — others don't.
 But there, a girl may preach and prate

From morning six to evening eight,
And never stop to dine,
When all the world, although misled,
Is quite agreed on any head —
And it is quite agreed on mine!

All said and done,
It's little I
Against a throng
I'm only one,
And possibly
I may be wrong!

TERESA. Now come and talk it over, like a sensible boy. (They sit — he at her feet.) Come, tell me all about it. You know you used always to confide your little troubles to me.

ALFREDO. I've nothing to say, except that I'm over head and ears in love with you.

TERESA. Now, first of all, you mustn't say "you"; it's too personal. Say, "I'm over head and ears in love with Teresa!"

ALFREDO. Well, so I am.

TERESA. Poor boy! Well, I can quite understand it, for, with all her faults, she's far and away the nicest girl hereabouts. Now, look at it sensibly. If you, a plain young man, married a conspicuous beauty (for, after all's said and done, that's what it comes to), you would be under a perpetual disadvantage from sheer force of contrast; and as for jealousy — well, I've known Teresa since she was quite a little girl, and take my word for it, she would keep you on chronic tenterhooks. Now, if you married a thoroughly plain girl — like Elvino's niece Ultrice, for instance —

ULTRICE enters and overhears what follows.

— who couldn't possibly, under any circumstances, give you the least uneasiness on the score of her personal attractions — you might count on being as happy as two thoroughly unattractive little birds could reasonably expect to be.

ALFREDO. Ultrice! What do I want with Ultrice? She follows me everywhere. She worries my life out.

TERESA. Ultrice is quite a good sort of girl; and as to her personal appearance, why, you'd get used even to that in a couple of years!

ULTRICE comes forward.

N°8 - QUARTETTE. — ULTRICE, TERESA, ALFREDO, and afterwards ELVINO.

ULTRICE. Upon my word, miss!

TERESA. Oh, it's you, miss!
How d'ye do, miss?
Didn't know you
Overheard, miss!

ULTRICE. Oh, you spiteful —

TERESA (curtseying). How politeful!

ULTRICE. One I owe you,
You tittling, tattling, reckless, rattling, twopenny, ha'penny parcel of vanity!

TERESA. High gentility, amiability, both combined with true humility!

ULTRICE. You mischief-making, character-taking, clicking clacking bit of inanity!

TERESA. Play propriety, or society may suppose it's inebriety.

ALFREDO. Now, ladies, pray you, listen to me.
Dicky-birds in their nests agree.
If they can do so, do so too.

TERESA and ULTRICE. What has it, pray, to do with you?

ULTRICE. Dicky-birds don't, to gain their ends,
Depreciate their absent friends.

TERESA. Dicky-birds don't, whate'er they hear,
Forget that they are ladies, dear!

ALL THREE. Dicky-birds tweetle, tweetle tweek,
Which may be silly, and does sound weak;
But dicky-birds don't, whate'er they hear,
Forget that they are ladies, dear!

Enter ELVINO.

ELVINO. Now, pray you, attention! I've something to mention
That ought your approval to win —

ULTRICE (interrupting). And dicky-birds never, or rarely, endeavour —

ELVINO. Now, ladies, a truce to this din!

TERESA (interrupting). And dicky-birds don't —

ELVINO. Be quiet!

TERESA. I won't! —

ELVINO. My fortune's about to begin —
The Duke and the Duchess (their quality such is)
Themselves, and their kith and kin —

ULTRICE (interrupting). And dicky-birds rarely are treating me fairly —

ELVINO. They're going to stop at the inn!

ALL THREE. What!

ELVINO. They're going to stop at the inn!

ALL THREE. What!

ELVINO. They're going to stop at the inn!

ULTRICE. The Duke and the Duchess fall into our clutches?
A penance, no doubt, for some sin!

TERESA. Perhaps it's his figure, too portly for vigour,
He's stout and he wants to be thin!
ALFREDO. At least their intention shows great condescension
For comfort they can't care a pin:
ELVINO. For excellent eating
Affords a good greeting
To people who stop at my inn!
Good beds and warm sheeting,
That never want Keating,<sup>1</sup>
That ought their approval to win.

ELVINO.
For excellent eating,
Good beds and warm sheeting,
That never want Keating,
Afford a good greeting
To people who stop at my inn!

THE OTHERS.
Indifferent eating —
Hard beds and damp sheeting
(I hope they've some Keating),
Afford a poor greeting
To people who stop at this inn!

ELVINO. I don't know how I shall accommodate them. My only bedroom is occupied by the exploded Alchemist, who is much too incomplete to be moved. There's the scullery. Do you think they'd put up with a shake-down in the scullery?

ALFREDO. I don't know. The Duke is an awful stickler for etiquette.

ULTRICE. He gave an innkeeper at Palermo six months because he used his pocket-handkerchief in his presence.

TERESA. And he fined the Mayor of Syracuse a hundred crowns because he didn't.

ELVINO. This is terrible. I know I shall make some fearful mistake with these people! I've never in my life addressed anybody of higher rank than an Oil and Italian Warehouseman!

ALFREDO. My good sir, they're not people — they're Personages.

ELVINO. Of course they are! There I go — putting my foot into it at the first go off! If I could only practise a little. Now, if you'd be so kind — so very kind — as to impersonate the Duke, just for a dress-rehearsal of the reception (I've got a lot of beautiful clothes left behind by some strolling players in pawn for their bill), you shall be treated with all the consideration due to your exalted rank, and have the entire run of the bar, except rum-shrub!

ALFREDO. It's a tempting offer. But I must have a Duchess.

ELVINO. Of course you must. (Aside.) How many Duchesses go to a Duke?

ALFREDO. Only one at a time.

ELVINO. You don't say so?

ALFREDO. Yes — Dukes are very particular about that.

ELVINO. Dear me! (Aloud.) Well, here are two to choose from — my cousin Teresa and my niece Ultrice — both charming.

ULTRICE and TERESA. What's that?

ELVINO. Well. One charming and one — umph! Will that do?

ULTRICE and TERESA. That will do!

ELVINO. Now, come; we've no time to lose. Choose your Duchess and begin.

N° 9 - QUARTETTE. —ALFREDO, ULTRICE, TERESA, and ELVINO.

ALFREDO (to TERESA). Fair maid, take pity on my state!
Look down with eyes compassionate
On my condition lonely;
Nor think me too impertinent,
If I implore you to relent,
And my sweet Duchess represent
On this occasion only!

TERESA. I thank you, sir; but it would be Presumptuous, indeed, in me
To personate a Duchess.
But I know one who'd have the face
To jump at mimicking her Grace;
No compliment seems out of place
Her vanity that touches.

ULTRICE. D'you mean me, miss?

TERESA. I mean you, miss,
All above.

ULTRICE. You're too free, miss.

TERESA. Try it, do, miss —
There's a love!

ULTRICE. I agree, miss!

TERESA. That's explicit:
Take your ground!

ULTRICE. You shall see, miss.

TERESA. Wouldn't miss it
For a pound.

ULTRICE. Though your spite all bounds surpasses,
Pay attention, I beseech you.
Manners of the upper classes
I shall be most pleased to teach you.

TERESA. Thank you, dear — pray, take your station —
Malice soon will spread the rumour.
It will be a personation

Teeming with unconscious humour!

ENSEMBLE.

ULTRICE.
Watch me as I take my station,
Spread about the welcome rumour.
No attempt at provocation
Touches my extreme good humour.

ALFREDO, TERESA, and ELVINO.
Watch her as she takes her station,
Malice soon will spread the rumour.
It will be a personation
Teeming with unconscious humour.

ULTRICE. Now, look at me,
And you will see
How ladies grand
Present their hand;
It's copied from the highest ladies in the land.

TERESA. I always thought
A lady ought
To walk with grace
And not grimace;
But that, it's very evident, is not the case.

ULTRICE. Then as they walk,
They blandly talk,
And look at us
With eye-glass — thus —
And what they'll have for dinner they, perhaps, discuss.

TERESA. It would appear
They flout and fleer,
Stick up their nose,
Turn in their toes —
You're teaching me gratuitously, I suppose?

ULTRICE. Then as she takes her place upon the throne that is prepared,
The people bow them to the ground, and every head is bared,
They keep their proper places as she looks them through and through —

TERESA. And I suppose they try to keep their countenances too?
If that is what is called Court etiquette, it's very plain
The ways of high society I never shall attain;
It seems you must be ill-bred, and as awkward as can be,
Which is A, B, C to you, my love, but difficult for me.

{ ULTRICE. As that is what is called Court etiquette, etc.

{ OTHERS. If that is what is called Court etiquette, etc.

[Exeunt ELVINO, bowing before ALFREDO and ULTRICE,
TERESA following and mimicking ULTRICE's walk and gestures.

Charivari without. Enter Chorus of Girls, running and heralding the approach of PIETRO,

I'm exceedingly rich.
It ought to delight you,
Although, at first sight, you
May not recognize it as sich.

Other clowns make you laugh till you sink,
When they tip you a wink;
With attitude antic,
They render you frantic —
I don't. I compel you to think!

For, oh, this is a world of insincerity and trouble,
And joy is imbecility and happiness a bubble,
And you're a lot of butterflies who flutter through a summer,
And he's a mountebank, and I'm a miserable mummer!

ALL. It's possible the world is insincerity and trouble,
And happiness, for all I know, is nothing but a bubble;
Perhaps we may be butterflies who flutter through a summer,
But you're, without a doubt, a very miserable mummer!

NITA (dancing). I've a dance
That came from France
Not long ago —
It's worthy of your silver and your copper.
It's my own
And I alone
Its mazes know —
It's graceful and particularly proper.
I assist
As soloist,
Upon a squeeze,
On the trumpet and the kettledrum sonorous.
I've a song
That's just as long
As you may please —
Twenty verses, and each verse has got a chorus!

ALL. Now that's the kind of merriment you ought to set before us;
Only fancy — twenty verses, and each verse has got a chorus.
To such an entertainment we could listen for a summer;
But save us from the humour of this melancholy mummer!

PIETRO. Oh, you lucky people! Oh, you fortunate villagers! A perfectly remote and altogether obscure corner of Europe favoured with the presence of a company of artists whom all the crowned heads of Europe are quarrelling to possess! (To BARTOLO.) Solo, if you please, expressive of a general withdrawal of ambassadors from all the European Courts. (Flourish.) The Czar of Russia is no longer on terms with the Empress of New York because I visited her first. A lady, you know! As a man of gallantry I couldn't refuse. But, mum! I must be discreet. (To BARTOLO.) Solo, if you please, expressive of the honorable silence of a self-respecting man of gallantry. (BARTOLO flourishes his drumsticks and pretends to play Pandean pipes, but without eliciting any sound.) Now, what do you think we came for?

ALL. Gold!

PIETRO. Gold? Bah! Try again.

ALL. Silver!

PIETRO. Silver? Why, we're sick of gold and silver!

BARTOLO. Could you oblige me with my last week's salary?

PIETRO. Gold! (Taking a handful from his pocket and looking at it in disgust.) Ugh! (Shuddering.) Here — catch! (About to throw it to them.) Stop! On second thoughts it will only give you ideas above your station. But come — I will be frank with you. The greatest men have their weaknesses and I have mine. I have been cursed through life with a morbid craving for copper! I was cradled in a copper. I have frequently been taken up by a copper. A bull once tossed me for a copper. "Heads!" I cried. I came down tails, and he won. I was hurt. I felt it very much. (To BARTOLO.) Solo, if you please, expressive of feelings that may be more easily imagined than described. (Flourish.) Now to business. At half-past three will be presented a dress rehearsal of the performance to be given before the Duke and Duchess of Pallavicini, comprising an exhibition of conjuring, necromancy, spirit manifestations, thought-reading, hypnotism, mesmeric psychology, psychography, sensory hallucination, dancing on the slack wire and ground, and lofty tumbling. Also will be exhibited the two world-renowned life-size clock-work automata, representing Hamlet and Ophelia (unrolling two posters representing the figures) as they appeared in the bosoms of their families before they disgraced their friends by taking to the stage for a livelihood. The price of admission will be one penny for the aristocracy, members of the upper middle classes half price. At half-past five. Be in time — be in time — be in time!

During this speech PIETRO has frequently refreshed himself from a large wine-skin, which is also referred to by BARTOLO when PIETRO is not looking.

N<sup>o</sup> 10A — CHORUS.

Now that's the sort of merriment you ought to set before us;
To mark our approbation we'll extemporize a chorus.
To such an entertainment we could listen for a summer;
But save us from the humour of this melancholy mummer!

[Exeunt Village Girls.]

PIETRO. Humph! Not a remunerative lot, I fancy. But if the Duke, who is a mad enthusiast in the matter of automata, should take a fancy to our Hamlet and Ophelia, he'll buy them, and our fortune's made! By-the-by, where's Beppo with the figures?

NITA. Bless you, he couldn't be here yet — all uphill.

PIETRO. True. Nita!

NITA. Well. (She is talking to BARTOLO.)

PIETRO. Not quite so near Bartolo, please.

NITA. Oh, I forgot — force of habit.

PIETRO. You must recollect that you are no longer engaged to be married to him. That's over. You are engaged to be married to me, now. Try and remember it — were to him, are to me. It's quite easy, if you put it like that. Thank you. (Leads donkey off.)

NITA. Yes, but it's not so easy. A girl who's been deeply in love with a gentleman for the last six months may be forgiven if she forgets, now and then, that she doesn't care a bit for him any more.

BARTOLO (gloomily). We were happy!

NITA. Very. (Sighing.)

BARTOLO. How we carried on!

NITA. Didn't we?

BARTOLO. Do you remember when I used to go like that to you?

NITA. Don't I! (Sighing.)

BARTOLO. Does he ever go like that to you?

NITA. Not he — he doesn't know how.

BARTOLO. And yet we have a School Board! How you loved me!

NITA. Yes; but when I loved you you told me you were a leading tragedian. But a clown — I really don't see how I could love a clown.

BARTOLO. I didn't deceive you. I've played the first acts — and the first alone — of all our tragedies. No human eye has ever seen me in the second act of anything! My last appearance was three months ago. I played the moody Dane. As no one else has ever played him, so I played that Dane. Gods! how they laughed! I see them now — I hear their ribald roars. The whole house rocked with laughter! I've a soul that cannot brook contempt. "Laugh on!" I said; "laugh on, and laugh your fill — you laugh your last! No man shall ever laugh at me again — I'll be a clown!" I kept my word — they laugh at me no more.

Enter BEPPO, running and meeting PIETRO.

BEPPO (breathless). Oh, master! Here's a misfortune — here's a calamity!

PIETRO. Eh? What's the matter? Where are the figures?
BEPPPO. They're at Palermo!
PIETRO, BARTOLO, and NITA. What!
BEPPPO. It's no fault of mine. They've been detained by the police because they hadn't any passports.
NITA. That's because they're so life-like. After all, it's a compliment.
PIETRO. A compliment! Yes, but we can't dine on cold compliments. (To BEPPPO.) Didn't you open the figures and show their clockwork insides?
BEPPPO. Yes; but the police said that was no rule, they may be foreigners.
PIETRO. Very true — so they might.
BARTOLO. Chock-full of eccentric wheels — might almost be English. What's to be done?

Enter ELVINO and ULTRICE.

ELVINO. Here's a misfortune!
ULTRICE. Here's a calamity!
PIETRO. What, another?
ELVINO. We're ruined — ruined!
BARTOLO. What is the matter with the licensed victualler?
ULTRICE. The Alchemist — it's all over — he's gone! The last explosion did it!
ELVINO. And this (producing halfpence) is all I've been paid for six weeks' board, lodging, and medical attendance!
PIETRO. It seems cheap. But you can seize his effects.
ELVINO. I've seized 'em! Here they are (producing medicine phial with label.) — all he possessed in the world — a bottle of medicine with a label on it!
PIETRO. What's this?
ELVINO. Read it — our education's not what it was.
PIETRO (pretending to read label). “Two tablespoonfuls, at bed-time.”
ELVINO. Is that all?
PIETRO. Here's a greedy fellow!
ELVINO. But I say — it takes a lot of writing to say that.
PIETRO. Well, it's a very strong medicine.
ELVINO. Oh, I see.
ULTRICE (aside). I don't.

PIETRO (returning it.) Take it.

ELVINO. Thankye; take it yourself — it will do you good.

[Exit ELVINO. ULTRICE remains listening unobserved.

PIETRO (changing his manners). Has he gone? Come here; there's more in this than meets the eye!

NITA. What, more than two tablespoons?

PIETRO. More than two fiddlesticks! Listen to this: (Reads.) "Man is a hypocrite, and invariably affects to be better and wiser than he really is. This liquid, which should be freely diluted, has the effect of making every one who drinks it exactly what he pretends to be. The hypocrite becomes a man of piety; the swindler, a man of honour; the quack, a man of learning; and the braggart, a man of war."

ULTRICE (aside). I thought as much — this may be useful. [Exit ULTRICE.

PIETRO. Now the question is – what's to be done with it?

NITA. Give some to Bartolo, and make him funny!

BARTOLO. Naughty sly-boots!

PIETRO. Give some to Bartolo? Yes, and give some to Nita, too. Don't you understand?

NITA. Candidly, no.

PIETRO. Why, the Duke and Duchess want to buy the figures, and the figures are missing. What's to be done? Why, it's obvious. You and Bartolo dress and make up as the two figures — when dressed, you drink a few drops of the potion, diluted with wine. (Tasting the cork and shuddering.) It's — it's not at all nasty — and you will not only look like the two figures, but you'll actually be the two figures — clockwork and all!

NITA. Whew! (Whistles.)

BARTOLO. What! I become a doll — a dandled doll? A mere conglomerate of whizzing wheels, salad of springs and hotch-potch of escapements! Exchange all the beautiful things I've got inside here for a handful of common clockwork? It's a large order. Perish the thought and he who uttered it!

PIETRO. Come, come! The figures are our joint property, and we are all equally interested in selling them.

NITA. That's true. Well. I've no objection. Besides, it will be fun.

PIETRO. Good girl! The potion must be diluted, so I'll pour it into this wine-skin and we can draw it off as we want it. (Does so.)

NITA. But stop a bit! I don't want to be clockwork all my life! How are we to get back again?

PIETRO. I never thought of that!

And timid I,
 A-flush with shame
 Elysian,
 Could only sigh,
Dieu, comme je t'aime!
 (Parisian.)
 ALL. Could only sigh, etc.
 NITA. No matter, e'en
 Hast thou had coined
 A Merman,
 Thou wouldst have been
Mein lieber freund —
 (That's German).
 Thy face, a-blaze
 With loving pats,
 Felt tinglish,
 For in those days
 I loved thee — that's Plain English!
 ALL. For in those days, etc.

During this, BARTOLO has gradually yielded to NITA's blandishments, and at the end expresses, in gesture, his acquiescence with her wishes. PIETRO re-enters from Inn.

DANCING TRIO. — PIETRO, NITA, and BARTOLO.

PIETRO (enters, dancing). Allow that the plan I devise
 Is new and sufficiently clever;
 To testify joy and surprise,
 Perhaps you will kindly endeavour?
 BARTOLO and NITA (dancing). With anything clever or wise,
 I never should credit you — never!
 To testify joy and surprise,
 Observe our united endeavour.

(Dance — NITA stops suddenly.)

NITA. But what a catastrophe! Stop! (BARTOLO and PIETRO stop dancing.)
 I see of objections a crop.
 Suppose by some horrible fluke,
 I should chance to be bought by the Duke!

PIETRO (resuming his dance). Be easy, I'll certainly see
 You'll never get into his clutches.

BARTOLO (dancing). But don't be alarmed about me —
 I should like to be brought by the Duchess!

ALL (dancing). But don't be alarmed about {me/he} —

He/I would like to be bought by the Duchess!
Though pride {he/I} abhor,
{I've/He's} a "jenny say quor"
That is sure to appeal to a Duchess!

[Dance, and dance off.]

Enter TERESA.

TERESA. There's absolutely no limit to the vanity of some people. Ultrice actually believes that she has captivated Alfredo! Ha! Ha! Ha! Well, I'll let her remain under that fond delusion a little longer — it amuses me. When I'm tired of it, I have only to hold up my little finger and he'll fling himself at my feet in a moment!

Nº 12 - BALLAD. — TERESA.

Alfredo hers?
If that is her opinion
She little knows
the pow'r of my dominion!

When man in love-sick passion lingers,
A maid can twist him round her fingers:
A word from me
Of eloquent,
Yet maidenly
Encouragement —
A faint recall —
A dainty hint
That, after all,
I'm not a flint —
And such permissible pretences
Will put to flight his seven senses!
Then, as he cries, "My own, for ever!
No power on earth our lives shall sever!"
I'll answer him, with laugh provoking,
"Upon my word,
You're too absurd!
Why, bless my heart, I'm only joking!
Ha! ha! ha! ha!
I'm only joking!"

Enter ALFREDO unperceived. He overhears the following verse.

And should that fail — it doesn't often —
His heart by other means I'll soften:

With eyes that stream,
 And tears that sob,
 In joy supreme,
 I'll make it throb —
 I'll vow his scorn
 My heart will break,
 And all forlorn
 For his sweet sake —
 Which more than life itself I cherish —
 I'll constant live and constant perish!
 Then, as he cries, "My dearest treasure,
 Adored beyond all earthly measure!"
 I'll answer him (my triumph cloaking),
 "Upon my word,
 You're too absurd —
 Get up, you goose, I'm only joking!
 Ha! ha! ha! ha!
 I'm only joking!"

ALFREDO (coming forward—recitative). Ah, cruel one!

TERESA. Alfredo!

ALFREDO. Madam, good morning! (going.)

DUET. — TERESA and ALFREDO.

TERESA. Oh, whither, whither, whither, do you speed you?

Oh, hither, hither, hither, hither hie?

ALFREDO. Another—nother—nother time I'll heed you,

I've other, other, other fish to fry.

(aside). To punish her I'll try,

I'll soften by-and-by.

(aloud). My lady, I am sorry, but I've other fish to fry!

TERESA (aside). There's a twinkle in his eye,

He'll soften by-and-by.

(aloud). I'm very, very sorry that you've other fish to fry.

TERESA. A merry, merry, merry maid invites you,

Who's very, very, very short of sense.

ALFREDO. It's flirti-flirt-flirtiness incites you,

Imperti-perti-perti-pertinence!

(aside). Of taking some offence,

I'm making a pretense,

I'll punish her imperti-perti-perti-pertinence!

TERESA (aside). He thinks me very dense,

I see through his pretense,

(aloud). Oh, pardon my imperti-perti-perti-pertinence!

Now, listen to me, dear,
 'Twas waywardness willful
 (In which, as you see, dear,
 I'm not very skillful)
 That makes you so tearful;
 Take heart, and be cheerful,
 No mischief is done, dear —
 'Twas only in fun, dear!
 Now, listen to me, love —
 My sentiments store them;
 When maidens like thee, love,
 On hearts that adore them
 Unfeelingly trample,
 They always give ample
 Occasion for scorning —
 I bid you good morning!
 'Twas only in fun, dear!
 I pray you take warning.
 No mischief is done, dear!
 I bid you good morning!

ALFREDO.

TERESA.

ALFREDO.

TERESA.

ALFREDO.

ENSEMBLE.

ALFREDO (aside).
 She was only in fun —
 No mischief is done;
 Of taking offence
 I am making pretense.
 (aloud). I bid you good morning!

TERESA (furiously).
 I was only in fun,
 But the mischief is done;
 Of taking offence
 It is not a pretense.
 For he bids me good morning!

[Exit ALFREDO.]

RECITATIVE. — TERESA.

Duped! Rejected! Do I wake or dream?
 By him rejected? Oh, the shame of it!
 Rather than this I'll overwhelm him with
 The torrent of my passion — make him think
 My brain is tottering for the love of him;
 And when at last he yields to my protesting,
 I'll say, "Ha! ha! poor fool — I was only jesting!"

[Exit.

Flourish. Enter Chorus of Girls, running.

N° 13 - FINALE OF ACT I.

GIRLS. Come, and take your places all,
The show is just beginning;
Don't you hear the trumpet's call,
And the drummer's dinning?
Frolic, fun, and flummery —
Magic, mirth, and mummery —
(That's the showman's summary)
Set us all a-grinning!
Come, and take your places all, etc.

During this ALFREDO has returned, followed by TERESA, who expresses heart-broken passion in gesture.

Enter ULTRICE and ELVINO, who carries a theatrical cloak, sword, hat, and lady's train.

RECITATIVE.

ULTRICE. Allow me, madam, if you've quite done with him.
ALFREDO (leaving TERESA). Good morning, miss!
TERESA (enraged — aside). Oh, some day I'll be one with him! [Exit TERESA.]

ELVINO (to ALFREDO). Allow me. 'Twill assist your Grace
If on your noble brow I place
This hat and feather. (ALFREDO puts them on.)
(to ULTRICE). The Duchess, perhaps, will kindly deign
To wear these jewels and this train —
They go together. (ULTRICE puts them on.)

ALFREDO and ULTRICE walk pompously to seats that are placed for them in front of the Inn door, the Chorus curtseying with mock humility.

GIRLS. Your Graces, as you wend,
We humbly bow and bend.
You look, we're quite aware,
A most imposing pair!

ELVINO and GIRLS. Your Graces, as you wend, etc.

*Enter procession of Tamorras, disguised as Dominican monks; ARROSTINO as Prior.
The Girls, believing the Monks to be genuine, all kneel.*

CHAUNT.

MOCK MONKS. Attamen ex cunctis supra reliquisque notandum —
ARROSTINO. Omne quod exit in um (hoec verba, I don't understand 'em).
MOCK MONKS. Esse genus neutrum — sic invariabile nomen —

ARROSTINO.

(Which is Greek to most of us here,
and perhaps Double-Dutch to the showmen.)

MOCK MONKS.

And perhaps Double-Dutch to the showmen.

CHORUS OF GIRLS, kneeling.

Holy fathers, on my head,
Blessings without number shed.
They've no errors to confess
Whom the holy fathers bless.
Moral maxims inculcate,
Check our waywardness innate;
Precept and example show
How far girls may safely go!

ARROSTINO

Pretty maidens—roguey-pogueys,
Tempting both to youths and fogies—
O you little gypsies,
Pretty pipsy-wipsies!
Tender little kiddies,
Tiddy-iddy-iddies!

If you'd learn, O maids discerning,
Words of wisdom, words of learning—
Listen, I beseech you,
Listen, while I teach you,
In this village forum,
Rules of true decorum.

ALL THE MEN.

Rules of true decorum.

ARROSTINO

Here's a tender kind of squeezing.
Innocent and not unpleasing (taking a girl round waist);
Still it's full of danger,
Coming from a stranger;
If you should allow it
Better not avow it.

ALL THE MEN.

Better not avow it.

ARROSTINO

Let me add in tones instructive,
Doing this is most seductive (kisses her);
If it's given to you
By a man who'd woo you,
As you ought to spurn it,
Instantly return it!

ALL THE MEN.

Instantly return it!

GIRLS. Oh, you wicked,
 Base — deceiving —
 It's distressing!
 It's degrading!
 We are trickèd
 Through believing,
 Never guessing
 Masquerading!
 Ladies mocking!
 Goodness gracious!
 What a wrong, sir!
 Why, how dare you?
 It is shocking!
 It's audacious!
 Go along, sir!
 I can't bear you!

TENORS. It is wicked — ha! ha! ha!
 BASSES. They are trickèd — ha! ha! ha!
 ALL. This disguising
 Is surprising,
 Ladies mocking,
 It is shocking —
 It is blameful —
 It is shameful —
 It is shameful —
 Ha! ha! ha!

During the above PIETRO has brought on BARTOLO and NITA made up as wax-work figures of Hamlet and Ophelia. PIETRO also brings on the wine-skin.

PIETRO. Now, all you pretty villagers who haven't paid, stand you aside,
 And listen to a tragic tale of love, despair, and suicide.
 The gentleman's a noble prince — a marvel of ventriloquy —
 Unhappily afflicted with a mania for soliloquy.
 The lady is a victim of the God of Love tyrannical —
 You see it in her gestures, which are morbidly mechanical;
 He's backed himself at heavy odds, in proof of his ability
 That he'll soliloquize her into utter imbecility.
 She wildly begs him to desist — appeals to his humanity,
 But all in vain — observe her eyes a-goggling with insanity.
 He perseveres, improving the occasion opportunatic —
 She sticks straws in her hair — he's won his wager — she's a lunatic!

During this, BARTOLO and NITA have gone through the movements described in a ridiculously jerky and mechanical fashion.

I pray you hear!
Or soon, alas!
You'll sadly kneel
Beside {my/her} bier!

Decline to hear;
'Twill come to pass,
You'll gladly kneel
Beside her bier!

PIETRO (in agony).
A poisoned glass!
The pain I feel
Is most severe.
That pain, alas,
I can't conceal —
I feel it here!

BARTOLO and NITA.
Though but a mass
Of spring and wheel
And other gear,
Of grief, alas,
We can't conceal —
We feel it here!

CHORUS.

Be warned if you care for your life,
And the girl who will soon be your wife.
I'm sure there is something amiss;
That wine may be doctored and worse!
It may harbor some horrible curse!
Don't die of such poison as this!

CHORUS.

If you've ducats of gold in your purse,
Why, then, you may surely do worse
Than die of such poison as this!

During this, TERESA has pretended to fall insensible at ALFREDO's feet. He supports her, and supposing that she has fainted, pours some wine down her throat. All the others (except Chorus of Girls) raise the cups to their lips, and drink as the Act Drop falls.

N° 14 — ENTR'ACTE.

ACT II.

SCENE. Exterior of Monastery by moonlight. Mountain range and river in distance.

RISOTTO discovered.

RISOTTO (looking at watch). Now, Minestra, where are you? This is the appointed spot, and you are not here. Dear, dear, dear! She never kept me waiting before (looking off.) Ah, I see her! Here she comes, toddling along like an old lady of eighty! What a thorough little artist it is! She keeps up the character even when she thinks no one is looking!

Enter MINESTRA, now really transformed into an old crone.

RISOTTO. My darling, you're late. Why — what a wonderful disguise! I never saw anything more perfect in my life! I can hardly believe that this is my pretty, dainty, delicate, little bride!

MINESTRA. Oh, Risotto, don't be angry with your little wifey, but something terrible has happened — I — I can't get it off!

RISOTTO. Can't get what off, my pet?

MINESTRA. The make-up! I lined my face, just as you told me — and — and now they're real wrinkles!

RISOTTO (examining her face). What!

MINESTRA. Then you told me to cover my teeth with cobbler's wax. They've all come out! Then you told me to pretend I had gout and rheumatism — and I've got 'em! Ugh! (Groaning.)

RISOTTO. But, my dearest girl —

MINESTRA. Then my hair! Oh, my poor hair!

RISOTTO. It's a capital wig.

MINESTRA. That's it — it's not a wig! It's my own, and it won't come off — and I hate it!

RISOTTO. This is a most remarkable circumstance. How did it happen?

MINESTRA. After I had dressed myself as an old woman, we all drank some wine out of the conjuror's wine-skin, and I gradually became an old woman of seventy-four!

RISOTTO. This is most embarrassing. I may say, most disappointing. On one's wedding day, too!

MINESTRA. My poor husband, I'm so sorry for you! But I'm an old woman, and you won't be troubled with me long; that's one comfort to you.

RISOTTO. Yes — I mean, no. I — I trust that, notwithstanding this — this modification of the implied terms of our agreement — there are many years of — of — yes, bliss — in store for us. (Aside.) If it had only happened yesterday, it wouldn't have mattered so much!

MINESTRA. Of course, you won't love your little woman now!

RISOTTO. Oh, I beg your pardon. I shall have much pleasure in — in showing you every attention compatible with the — the respect due to a lady of your advanced years, my — my pet!

N° 15 - DUET. — RISOTTO and MINESTRA.

MINESTRA. I'd be a young girl if I could!

RISOTTO. You're very good — you're very good:

But that unlikely I'm afraid is!
 MINESTRA. I'd be as lovely as a rose!
 RISOTTO. So I suppose — so I suppose.
 And so, no doubt, would most old ladies!
 MINESTRA. I'll rouge my face, make up my eyes,
 With cunning dyes — with cunning dyes —
 My venerable looks anointing.
 I'll try my best your heart to thrill.
 RISOTTO. I'm sure you will, my love, but still
 It is a little, little disappointing!
 BOTH. It is a little disappointing!
 Just a little —
 A little — little disappointing!

 RISOTTO. You're certain that you're wide awake?
 There's no mistake — there's no mistake?
 Your rugged wrinkles you can't thin off?
 MINESTRA. I've scrubbed, and scrubbed, and scrubbed away
 For half a day, for half a day,
 Until I've almost scrubbed the skin off!
 So gouty and rheumatic I,
 That though I try, that though I try,
 I scarce can fasten my shoe buckles.
 RISOTTO (looking at her fingers). My bride could write (so gouty she)
 "No Popery! No Popery!"
 On the walls with all her knuckles!
 BOTH. It is a little disappointing!
 Just a little —
 A little — little disappointing!

[Exit RISOTTO, slowly and despondingly.]

MINESTRA. It's a sad thing to be transformed into an old woman in the very flower of one's life! Ah, deary me! this is but a dismal wedding-day! Why, who comes here?
 Teresa, as I live — and crying too! What has she to cry for? She's young enough,
I'm sure!

Enter TERESA. Her manner suggests that she is crazed.

N<sup>o</sup> 16 - RECITATIVE. — TERESA.

All alone to my eerie I wander a-weary,
 A desolate maid of her lover bereft;
 What matter? 'tis only a heart that is lonely —
 A-many the maids that a lover has left!

BALLAD.

Whispering breeze,
Bring me my dear!
Wind-shaken trees,
Beckon him here!
Rivulet, hie —
Prithee go see —
Birds, as ye fly,
Call him to me!
Tell him the tale of the tears that I shed —
Tell him I die for the love that is dead!
Heart that in jest
Laughed him to scorn,
Now in my breast
Lying forlorn —
Idle to plead!
Cherish thy chain —
Thou shalt be freed
Never again!
My heart it is sad and a-weary my head,
For I weep and I die for the love that is dead!

[She sinks, weeping, on a seat.]

MINESTRA. Why, take heart, little one! What ails thee? Come, tell me thy sorrow. I'm an old body now, but time was when I was as young as thou art — and not so long since, either!

TERESA. Oh, mother, mother, I think I am bewitched!

MINESTRA (aside). Here's another!

TERESA. I am as though in a dream! Shall I tell thee? Yes, for thou hast a kindly old face. To serve an unworthy end I must needs feign to be going mad for the love of Alfredo, and so feigning, I fell at his feet. He, thinking I had swooned, in good sooth, placed a wine-cup to my lips, and I drank, and oh, mother, it must have been some love-philtre, for, behold, a wondrous change came over me, and he who was naught to me before became as the very breath of my life!

MINESTRA. Well, the potion has done thee a good service, for he's a good lad, and will make thee a strapping husband.

TERESA. Nay, herein is the mischief of it — it was too late, for he had already given his heart to another, and would none of me, and I, whose very soul is possessed by my love of him, have retained the village fiddler to compose crazy love-songs for me to sing when the occasion ariseth, for I am going mad — mad — mad — and be a girl never so crazy, her songs should be in accordance with the rules of thorough-bass.

MINESTRA. Ha! Now, mark me — that mountebanking fellow is at the bottom of this. Why, he hath also bewitched me!

TERESA. Thou? Thou lovest not Alfredo?

MINESTRA. A fig for Alfredo! Why, look at me, child; I am Minestra!

TERESA (looking at her). Thou Minestra, who was married this morning? Nay, I am mad; but not so mad as that! Minestra is young and rather pretty — not so pretty as I, but still pretty — whereas thou art — oh! I ask pardon — my brain wanders — wanders — wanders!

MINESTRA. I am Minestra, I tell thee. For a purpose — also an unworthy one — I feigned to be an old dame, and so feigning, I drank — and, hang the knave, I am seventy!

TERESA. Thou Minestra? Why, let me look! As I live, it is true! Oh, poor, poor Risotto!

MINESTRA. Even so; thy pity is for him — not for me. No matter. But if I can find this Jack-pudding, trust me, I'll make him set matters straight again. Oh, I have as much to regain as thou!

N° 17 - DUET. — MINESTRA and TERESA.

MINESTRA. If I can catch this jolly Jack-Patch —

TERESA. Ah, me! my heart is weary, oh!

MINESTRA. He'll go for a year with a flea in his ear!

TERESA. And my days are dark and dreary, oh!

MINESTRA. He'll find his joke is a pig in a poke —

TERESA. For love my soul is aching, oh!

MINESTRA. Though scarce a score, I'm seventy-four! —

TERESA. And my heart, my heart is breaking, oh!

MINESTRA. When a woman has come to seventy year

It's well to be withered and old and blear;

But when she is only a score like me,

It's better a fair young girl to be!

TERESA. 'Tis well to be young when all is well,

And lovers are true to the tales they tell;

But ah! when love is a upas tree,

'Tis better an aged dame to be!

[Exeunt together.]

Symphony. Enter BARTOLO and NITA (still as waxwork Hamlet and Ophelia.) They walk down the stage mechanically, as though controlled by clockwork. Their keys are fitted with keyholes in the small of their backs. Each wears a placard inscribed "Put a penny in the slot."

N° 18 - DUET. — BARTOLO and NITA.

BARTOLO. If our action's stiff and crude,
Do not laugh because it's rude.

NITA. If our gestures promise larks,
Do not make unkind remarks.

BARTOLO. Clockwork figures may be found
Everywhere and all around.

NITA. Ten to one, if we but knew,
You are clockwork figures too.

BARTOLO. And the motto of the lot,
NITA. "Put a penny in the slot!"
BOTH. "Put a penny in the slot!"

NITA. Usurer for money lent,
Making out his cent. per cent. —

BARTOLO. Widow plump or maiden rare,
Deaf and dumb to suitor's prayer —

NITA. Tax collectors, whom in vain
You implore to "call again" —

BARTOLO. Cautious voter, whom you find
Slow in making up his mind.

NITA. If you'd move them on the spot,
BARTOLO. Put a penny in the slot!
BOTH. Put a penny in the slot!

BARTOLO. Bland reporters in the courts,
Who suppress police reports —

NITA. Sheriff's yeoman, pen in fist,
Making out a jury list —

BARTOLO. Stern policeman, tall and spare,
Acting all "upon the square" —

NITA. (Which in words that plainer fall Means that you can square them all) —

BARTOLO. If you want to move the lot,
NITA. Put a penny in the slot!
BOTH. Put a penny in the slot!

BARTOLO. Nita.

NITA. Well?

BARTOLO. This is a very uncomfortable state of things.

NITA. Very. How do you find your clockwork this evening?

BARTOLO. Ticking, ticking, thank you. And you?

NITA. I fancy I want regulating.

BARTOLO. Eh?

NITA. I think I'm rather fast.

BARTOLO. Nita, you surprise and shock me.

NITA. Mechanically speaking, I mean.

BARTOLO. Oh, I take you. This condition of existence is rather degrading. We are common clockwork, I believe?

NITA. Mere Geneva. The cheapest thing in the trade.

BARTOLO. So I was given to understand.

NITA. It might have been worse. We might have been Waterbury, with interchangeable insides.

BARTOLO. That's true. But when I remember the delicately-beautiful apparatus with which I was filled from head to foot — and which never, never ticked — when I contemplate the exquisite adjustment of means to end — which never, never wanted oiling — I am shocked to think that I am reduced to a mere mechanical complication of arbors, pallets, wheels, mainsprings, and escapements!

NITA. Still you were always complaining. You never were quite well.

BARTOLO. Because I eat too much.

NITA. That's true.

BARTOLO. Never weary of putting into operation the exquisitely-beautiful apparatus of digestion, I over-taxed its powers. I was a scientific enthusiast and I over-did it. Still, it is something to have an apparatus that never, never aches. I — I — hallo!

NITA. What's the matter?

BARTOLO (very slowly). I — beg your pardon. I — think — I — must be running down. May — I — trouble you? They've thoughtlessly — put the key-hole — in — the — small of my back — and — I — can't get at it. (NITA winds him up.) Thank you. That's very nice, indeed. Now I can go on again. Hallo! c'ck! c'ck! c'ck!

NITA. What's wrong now?

BARTOLO. I — c'ck — c'ck — I am not conversant with clockwork; but do you feel, from time to time, a kind of jerkiness that catches you just here?

NITA. No; I work as smooth as butter. The continued ticking is tiresome; but it's only for an hour.

BARTOLO. The ticking is simply maddening. C'ck! C'ck! There it is again!

NITA. Something wrong with your works, I'm afraid. Stop a bit — I'll see. (Opens door in chest, revealing a quantity of clockwork.) No; all right there. Turn round. (He does so; she opens door in the back of his head.) No; the head appears to be empty. (Opens door in his side.) I see what it is; a halfpenny has got into your escapement. Stop a bit. (Takes out halfpenny.)

BARTOLO. Bless my heart, how dangerous! What a relief! Thank you very much. You may keep it for your trouble; but do not — oh, do not spend it on foolishness.

NITA. While I'm about it, I'll just oil you, and then —— (Proceeds to oil his works with a feather.)

BARTOLO (squirming). Don't! You tickle!

Enter PIETRO, looking very ill.

PIETRO (not seeing them). The Duke and Duchess will be here in half an hour — their escort is already in sight. Dying by slow poison is a very painful process, and I couldn't have held out much longer. (Sees them.) Nita! what are you doing?

NITA. I'm oiling Bartolo.

BARTOLO. I am being oiled by Nita, and she does tickle! I don't like it. At least I do like it, but it's wrong.

PIETRO. How dare you take such a liberty! Shut the gentleman up at once. Nice occupation for a young lady!

NITA. But there's something wrong with his works.

PIETRO. That's no affair of yours. If Bartolo's works are out of order, that is a matter for Bartolo's medical attendant — I mean his clockmaker. Don't let me catch you oiling him again.

BARTOLO. It's purely mechanical.

NITA. Oh you jealous thing! Ha! ha! ha!

BARTOLO. Oh you jealous thing! Ha! ha! ha!

NITA. Jealous of such an object as that! (BARTOLO hurt).

BARTOLO. Really— these personal allusions are quite uncalled for!

NITA. Ha! Ha! Ha!

PIETRO. Be quiet, or I'll take both your keys away — upon my word I will!

N° 19 - TRIO. — BARTOLO, NITA, and PIETRO.

BARTOLO. When gentlemen are eaten up with jealousy,
They make themselves exceedingly ridiculous,
For everything around they tinted yellow see —
Their antics and extravagances tickle us.

ALL. Their antics and extravagances tic, tic, tic, tic, tickle us!

{ NITA, PIETRO. Tic, tic, tic, etc.

{ BARTOLO. When gentlemen are eaten up with jealousy, etc.

NITA. Here's a gentleman, as fierce as a Mahometan,
So carried off by jealousy vehicular,
He's down on an unfortunate Automaton:

ALL. Some people are so terribly particular!
 Some people are so terribly partic, tic, tic, tic, ticular!
 { BARTOLO, PIETRO. Tic, tic, tic, etc.
 { NITA. Here's a gentleman, as fierce as a Mahometan, etc.
 PIETRO. When a lady is disposed to be tyrannical,
 She's equal to unlimited iniquity:
 And flirting may be flirting, though mechanical —
 A fact that has the sanction of antiquity —
 ALL. A fact that has the sanction of antic, tic, tic, tic, tiquity!
 { NITA, BARTOLO. Tic, tic, tic, etc.
 { PIETRO. When a lady is disposed to be tyrannical, etc.

PIETRO accompanying NITA.

PIETRO One lives and learns. When you're about to drink a potion that has the effect of making every one what he pretends he is, it's as well not to pretend that you are dying of slow poison. Of course I can stop it before the grinding agonies commence, but even now it's extremely inconvenient. I don't feel at all well, and I think I shall go and lie down.

(N° 19A) - SONG. — PIETRO

When your clothes, from your hat to your socks,
 Have tickled and scrubbed you all day;
 When your brain is a musical box,
 With a barrel that turns the wrong way;
 When you find you're too big for your coat,
 And a great deal too big for your vest,
 With a pint of warm oil in your throat,
 And a pound of tin-tacks in your chest;
 When you've got a beehive in your head,
 And a sewing machine in each ear;
 And you feel that you've eaten your bed,
 And you've got a bad headache down here;
 When your lips are like underdone paste,
 And you're highly gamboge in the gill;
 And your mouth has a coppery taste,
 As if you'd just bitten a pill;
 And wherever you tread,
 From a yawning abyss
 You recoil with a yell,—
 You are better in bed,
 For, depend on this,
 You are not at all well.

The mischief in village and city;
But since we got merry and mellow
On the wine of that conjuring fellow,
Transmogrified we're
Into friars austere,
Unwashed and unpleasantly yellow!
Whatever you say or you sing,
It's a most unaccountable thing!

Enter Chorus of Girls, from various directions.

CHORUS OF GIRLS. After a weary search
Hiding, at last, we find you;
Leaving us in the lurch
Isn't good breeding, mind you.
Offer apologee —
We shall want some persuading;
When do you think you'll be
Tired of masquerading?

SOLO (CONTRALTO). This jocular monkish pretence,
Though all very well in its way,
Is likely to pall on the sense,
If kept up all night and all day.

SOLO (SOPRANO). At an overdrawn joke or take-in,
However amusing, we scoff,
So many know when to begin,
So very few when to leave off.

GIRLS. So many know when to begin,
So very few when to leave off.

During this chorus, the Girls have been endeavouring to induce the false Monks to pay them attentions. The false Monks, however, have kept their eyes studiously on their breviaries.

ARROSTINO. These blandishments I pray you curb,
Nor think us churls — nor think us churls;
Our pious calm do not disturb,
Now there's good girls — now there's good girls!
Though our emotions, as you see,
We try to freeze — we try to freeze!
We don't, as yet, pretend to be
St. Anthonies — St. Anthonies;
So go along — nor think us churls,
Now there's good girls — now there's good girls!

GIRLS. Ah, cruel ones!

Time was, your love was stronger!
Ah, cruel ones!
You love us then no longer! (They weep.)

MONKS (confidentially to Girls). It's a most unaccountable thing —
An hour ago, as banditti,
We played like young lovers in spring,
The mischief in village and city. (Wild dance)
But since we got merry and mellow
On the wine of that conjuring fellow,
Transmogrified we're
Into friars austere,
Unwashed and unpleasantly yellow!

ALL. Transmogrified {we're/here}
Into friars austere,
Unwashed and unpleasantly yellow!
Whatever you say or you sing,
It's a most unaccountable thing!

Enter PIETRO, still very ill.

ALL (seeing him). Ah!
What does this mean — what have you done?
Do not attempt away to run
Nor questions try to parry.
GIRLS. The men to whom we were betrothed
We find as holy friars clothed,
Who mustn't ever marry!
ALL. Who mustn't ever marry!

PIETRO. Now I'll explain,
(If calm you'll be)
As well as I can
Though I'm in pain
And ought to see
A medical man.

ALL. This man, it's plain,
As well as we,
Is under a ban.
If he's in pain
He ought to see
A medical man.
If he's in pain,
It is as plain
As plain can be
He ought to see

A medical man.

RECITATIVE. — PIETRO.

My worthy friends, the wine you chose to drink
Makes every one what he pretends to be;
You personated monks, and monks you are,
And will be monks until the spell's removed.

ALL.

Oh, horror!

Oh, horror and despair unprecedented!

GIRLS.

But how long must they wait — to dreary cell,
To life-long celibacy sternly vowed?

MEN.

Yes, say — how long?

PIETRO.

Have patience, for I hold the antidote, (Producing pocket-book.)
And in an hour or two, or thereabouts,
The spell shall be removed, and you may wed
As quickly and as often as you please!

[Exit PIETRO.]

ALL.

Oh, rapture!

Oh, rapture, joy, and bliss unprecedented!

GIRLS (dancing).

An hour! 'twill rapidly pass,
Our freedom we then shall recover;
Each lover will welcome his lass —
Each lass will return to her lover!
The bells for our wedding will chime,
Delight in each bosom implanting,
So, gentlemen, in the mean time,
Proceed, if you please, with your chaunting!

ENSEMBLE.

MEN.

Time there was when earthly joy
Gave our senses full employ;
Earthly pleasures that allure,
For an hour we abjure!

GIRLS.

An hour! 'twill rapidly pass,
Our freedom we then shall recover, etc.

[Exeunt Girls. Manent ARROSTINO, GIORGIO, LUIGI, and Monks.]

ARROSTINO. This is a remarkable change, my son. A great improvement on our recent condition. Devoted as we now are to a life of contemplation — restricted by the rules of our order to a diet of bread and herbs — and not much of that — indigestion and its attendant inconveniences will be matters of tradition.

LUIGI. Still, it must be admitted that the old life was a pleasant one!

ARROSTINO. Yes, we had a jolly time of it while it lasted. (Correcting himself.) I should say that worldly allurements have the faculty of enlivening their devotees for the moment, but the evening's enjoyment seldom bears the morning's reflection, and the choicest banquet is but a feast of Dead Sea apples which turn to ashes in the mouth!

GIORGIO. Under the circumstances, we might have spared ourselves the trouble of luring the Duke and Duchess to the monastery.

ARROSTINO. No — no, I think not. It is true that, having regard to our present condition, we are bound to receive our distinguished guests with scrupulous hospitality, but an hour will soon pass, and we shall then, unhappily, lapse once more into the deplorable condition of being able to avail ourselves of any small change their Highnesses may happen to have about them. It is dreadful to think of, but that's what we shall be in about an hour.

LUIGI ascends to balcony of monastery.

N<sup>o</sup> 21 - RECITATIVE.

LUIGI. The Duke and Duchess hither wend their ways,
Let us receive them with a song of praise.

ARROSTINO. With glad acclaim we'll make the welkin ring,
The only question is — what shall we sing?

MEN. We know no song
That fits a throng
Of friars smug and greasy:
Our worldly lays
Of bygone days
Are much too free and easy;
Tho' suited to
A bandit crew,
They're not at all monastic,
And can't be sung
By sober tongue
Of mild ecclesiastic.

ARROSTINO. Stout-hearted be!
So many here
We need not fear
The ordeal before us;
No single word
Is ever heard
When singers sing in chorus.

ALL. So sing with me —
La la la la la, etc.

Enter ALFREDO, dressed magnificently as the Duke, supporting MINESTRA, who is apparently insensible.

ALFREDO.                               The welcome you so feelingly express
In words well chosen, touch us, I confess;
And my reply conveys as you may guess,
Inadequately, my indebtedness.

(very impressively).                La la la la la, etc.

The Monks are much impressed with ALFREDO's reply and express in gestures their satisfaction with the sentiments he has expressed.

ALL.                                        La la la la la, etc.

[Exeunt all the Monks except ARROSTINO, GIORGIO, and LUIGI.]

ALFREDO (to ARROSTINO).    May I ask if you are the Prior of this monastery?

ARROSTINO.    Well, I am and I am not. That is, I am now, but I wasn't an hour ago.

ALFREDO.    I see — a recent appointment.

ARROSTINO.    Yes, for an hour. Present tense, I am a Prior. Imperfect tense, I was a rollicking young rantipole. Future tense, I shall be a rollicking young rantipole — in an hour.
I hope I make myself clear?

ALFREDO.    Perfectly. (Aside.) Very like my own case. (Aloud.) I found this poor old lady almost insensible at the foot of the mountain. She had just strength enough to beg me to bring her here to you.

ARROSTINO.    Exactly. You call her an old lady. Well, she is an old lady, and she isn't an old lady. Present tense, she is an old lady. Imperfect tense, she was a young lady.

ALFREDO.    Of course she was.

ARROSTINO.    Ah! but, Future tense, she will be a young lady again — in an hour. That's the curious part of it. (To MINESTRA.) Go in, my dear — I should say my aged sister — and we will take every care of you.

LUIGI carries MINESTRA into monastery.

ALFREDO.    You are very good.

ARROSTINO.    Well, I am, and I am not. Present tense, I am very good. Imperfect tense, I was confoundedly bad. Future tense, I shall be confoundedly bad again — in an hour.

ALFREDO.    We are fortunate in having dropped in upon you during your virtuous phase.

LUIGI re-enters

ARROSTINO.    Particularly so. It's altogether a curious state of things. I'm such a creature of habit that I find it difficult to remember that I am no longer a rantipole. For instance, I see you have a watch. Perhaps it is a valuable watch. Don't tell me it is;

I would rather not know. Now, you can't imagine how difficult I find it not to take that watch. Oh, I know it's wrong; but then I always knew that (adopting a clerical manner.) By the way, I am collecting a few gold watches to send out to the poor naked savages of —— (Aside.) No, hang it all, let the man alone; you ought to be ashamed of yourself! (Aloud.) Pardon me, your handkerchief's hanging out. Will you oblige me by putting it out of sight? (ALFREDO does so.) Thank you, thank you so much! Temptation, you know, temptation! We are all weak, and it is sometimes difficult to resist.

ALFREDO (aside). Singular character, this Prior. (Aloud.) Of course I am prepared to give a donation to this monastery in consideration of your taking charge of the old lady. (Feeling for his purse.) By-the-by, where's my purse?

ARROSTINO, GIORGIO, and LUIGI (falling on their knees). Not guilty, your worship!

ALFREDO. Of course not! Ha! ha! (Finds it.) Oh, here it is!

ALL. Ha! ha! ha!

ARROSTINO. Yes, but you frightened us!

ALFREDO. Allow me to present this sum to the funds of the monastery.

ARROSTINO. No, thank ye; I'd rather not. Here, give it to Father Luigi.

[Exit ARROSTINO into monastery.]

LUIGI. No, thank ye; not for me. Father Giorgio will take it. [Exit into monastery.]

GIORGIO. Oh, no; Father Giorgio won't. Father Giorgio's a good little boy now — for an hour. [Exeunt into monastery.]

ALFREDO. This is an unaccountable state of things! To please Elvino I pretended to be a Duke, and I selected Ultrice as my Duchess. We drank the wine and we became a Duke and Duchess in real earnest, and, what is odder still, that unpleasant young person exercises an extraordinary fascination over me; while Teresa, whom I used to love so passionately, has completely faded out of my recollection.

Enter TERESA, crazed.

N<sup>o</sup> 22 - SONG. — TERESA.

Willow, willow, where's my love?
Lovers' ways are mazy;
All who hear me,
Much I fear me,
Think I'm going crazy.
Willow, willow, where's my love?
Waiting I, and weary —
Willow, willow, where's my love?
Where's my duck-a-deary?

TERESA. 'Tis but a silly song, and passing dear at the ducat I paid for it. They think anything is good enough for a mad maiden to sing; but though the maid be mad, her ducats are sound, and good gold should buy good wares, and there are none so mad that they want value for cash!

ALFREDO. Teresa!

TERESA (not recognizing him). My lord Duke, is it not? My service to your Grace and your Grace's bravery (kissing his cloak.) In good sooth, these are fine trappings, but they'll not trap me, for I love a lad who will none of me! My song says he's my duck-a-deary, which is true, in fact; but the expression is weak, and I am not yet mad enough for it. But I shall be soon — I shall be, soon!

ALFREDO. Teresa! — do you not know Alfredo, who used to love you so dearly?

TERESA. Alfredo! Alfredo! It is — it is — ha! ha! ha! (about to embrace him.)

ALFREDO. Don't. That I cannot permit. Under the circumstances, it would be in the last degree unbecoming.

TERESA. Oh, I had forgotten! Thou lovest another now — a plain girl, compared with me. Methinks thou too must be mad to take up with such a one! But we are all mad — all — all mad.

ALFREDO. I sometimes think so too. But take heart, little one; it is true I love thee not, for I have a bride, and no married man ever loves anybody but his wife.

TERESA. I am not so mad but that I know that. Why, I learnt it at school! But thou art like the rest — thou thinkest that any truism is good enough for a mad girl!

ALFREDO. As I was saying, take heart, for although you are nothing to me now, yet I have ascertained that this spell under which we all labour will be removed in an hour, and I shall then love you as dearly, as passionately as heretofore!

TERESA. Is this indeed so? In one brief hour? No, no; I dare not believe it!

N<sup>o</sup> 23 - DUET. — ALFREDO and TERESA.

ALFREDO. In days gone by,
But soon to come again,
With ardour pure
I used to pine,
And strove to lure
That heart of thine
With all my might and main.
I know not why,
But now, for thee, I find,
I do not care:
To be exact,
Thy beauty rare
Does not attract —

To all thy charms I'm blind!
But take good heart — an hour will pass amain,
And all my love will then come back again!

TERESA.

In days gone by
I played an idle part:
With scornful smile
And heartless jest,
And worldly guile,
Made manifest,
I grieved thy faithful heart.
How changed am I!
The love I dared decline,
Is now the breath
Of life to me.
And till kind Death
Shall set me free
My love shall live for thine!
Be brave, poor heart — an hour will pass amain,
And all his love will then come back again!

Enter ULTRICE.

RECITATIVE.

ULTRICE.

So, I have found you!

ALFREDO (leaving TERESA, and rushing to ULTRICE, as though under the influence of a spell).

Passionately loved one!
Thy dainty hand I kiss — I mean the gloved one!
Oh, thou adored with passion most romantic!
Worshipped with all the fire of frenzy frantic.
For one short hour my love consent to share it —
It won't last longer than an hour — I swear it!

ENSEMBLE.

ULTRICE ( aside ).	ALFREDO ( aside ).	TERESA.
The days of scorn are past — With passion he's demented!	The scorn I felt is past — With passion I'm demented!	An hour will soon have passed — With passion I'm demented!
Triumphant I, at last! My heart is now contented.	But still, it will not last, With that I'll be contented.	It won't much longer last, With that I'll be contented.
A suppliant at my feet, Thanks to the wizard's potion —	A suppliant at her feet, Thanks to the wizard's potion —	Though he is at her feet, Thanks to the wizard's potion —
With insolence I'll treat His newly-born devotion!	An hour — and obsolete My newly-born devotion!	An hour — and obsolete His newly-born devotion!

[Exit ALFREDO into monastery. TERESA attempts to follow him; she is stopped by ULTRICE, who sends her off in the opposite direction. ULTRICE remains.

N° 24 - RECITATIVE. — ULTRICE.

An hour? Nay, nay —
A lifetime rather — that is as I will.
His love is mine — yes, mine alone, until
His dying day!
Go, cheat yourselves with promises, poor fools!
I hold the talisman that overrules
The potion's power! (producing the pocket-book.)
I found the conjuror sleeping and alone —
I stole it! It's mine! my very own!
Alfredo till he dies shall wear my gyves!
An hour? Poor fools, that hour shall last your lives!
Ha! ha! an hour!

SONG.

When hungry cat
On helpless mouse
In sportive humour pounces,
Her playful pat
So treacherous
No fell intent announces:
He thinks she yearns
For game of play
Provoked by pure affection,
But soon he learns,
To his dismay,
That game is Vivisection!

Her talons quit
Their native fur —
Apart she fiercely rends him.
And, bit by bit,
At length to her
Digestive regions sends him.
“Beware of games
With feline friends —
They're generally hollow!”
So he exclaims,
As he descends
Her comprehensive swallow!

Enter all the Chorus of Girls, running. ALFREDO comes out of the monastery *and joins ULTRICE. He is followed by all the monks.

Enter, also, PIETRO, BARTOLO, and NITA, the two last still as clockwork figures.*

N° 25 - CHORUS.

GIRLS. Oh, please you not to go away
Until you've seen the clockwork play.
Two figures carry on the plot,
And one's a man — the other's not.
They're full of complicated springs,
And weights, and wheels, and catgut strings —
You wind 'em up, just in the back,
With cracky, cracky, cracky, crack —
Then all the wheels, revolving quick,
Go ticky, ticky, ticky, tick —
And then the figures eat and drink,
And walk and talk, and wink and think,
And quarrel, just like lovers twain,
And kiss and make it up again.

MEN. It's very true, and very quaint —
The one's a man, the other ain't.
You wind 'em up, just in the back,
With cracky, cracky, cracky, crack —

ALL. Then all the wheels, revolving quick,
Go ticky, ticky, ticky, tick.
It's very true — it's very quaint —
The one's a man — the other ain't!

During this, PIETRO has been dusting and arranging the figures, who have entered, jerkily, into the spirit of the chorus.

PIETRO (coming forward). May it please your Graces —
These are figures two,
Who, in port and paces,
Show you something new.
Note their human faces,
And the things they do;
We've reserved front places —
(recognizing them). Hallo! Why, it's you!
(to the others). Alfredo and Ultrice! Peasants two!

ELVINO. Why let me look! Upon my word, it's true!
No Duke and Duchess they, but peasants two!

ALL. Oh!
What do you mean by this sheer audacity?
What do you mean by this ill-timed joke?

ALFREDO. How do you dare defy veracity?
Spare your unrestrained loquacity,
Listen while we the truth uncloak.

ULTRICE. At 'Vino's base design —
The Duke and Duchess aping —

ALFREDO. We drank the cursed wine,
ULTRICE. For which we all were gaping.
ALFREDO. Then all at once we fell
ULTRICE. Into the wizard's clutches,
ALFREDO. Who changed us, strange to tell,
BOTH. To genuine Duke and Duchess.
ALL. But —
ALFREDO. Don't ask for further details — cease your chatter;
ULTRICE. We've told you all we know about the matter.

[Exeunt ALFREDO and ULTRICE.]

ALL. We may as well restrain our useless chatter;
They've told us all they know about the matter!

PIETRO (despondingly). There's only one thing to be done,
Destroy the antidote by fierce ignition,
And thereby bring back everyone
To his (or her) original condition!

ALL. Hurrah!

MEN. Sandal and shoon we gladly lose,
Here is an end to our calling clerical.

GIRLS. Now they may marry whenever they choose,
All of us are with joy hysterical.

BARTOLO and NITA. We shall be human, body and limb,
Happy to think our state is curable.

PIETRO. I shall be free from these tortures grim;
They're getting exceedingly unendurable!

ALL. Sandal and shoon {we/they} gladly lose, etc.
Hurrah! (PIETRO feels for pocket-book.)
Quick, quick — the antidote! (He can't find it.)
How horrified you look!

PIETRO. I had it in this coat —
Safe in my pocket-book. (Feeling for it.)
The truth I must admit,
Some thief has stolen it!

ALL. Oh, horror!
(threateningly to PIETRO.) Accursed sorcerer!
Thou demon-leagued traitor!
Ill-omened harbinger!

Low-born equivocator!
This is a hideous plot
To rob us of our senses —
Restore us on the spot,
Or dread the consequences!

PIETRO.

Have pity!
It's bad enough for you, no doubt you'll say,
But it's much worse for me — the truth I'm stating —
Have pity!
If I can't find the antidote today
I die in agonies excruciating!
Commencing with a gentle pain
Scarce worth a question,
It grows apace, till you complain
Of indigestion.
Then follows an internal fire
That scorns emulsions,
Until, ere nightfall, you expire
In fierce convulsions!

ALL.

Accursed sorcerer! etc.

*Exeunt all except PIETRO, BARTOLO, and NITA. PIETRO sits in great pain and distress.
BARTOLO and NITA make ineffective attempts to move and speak, but they have "run down."*

PIETRO (observing their efforts). Now, then, what's wrong with you? Oh, I see. (Winds them up.)
(Spoken together very rapidly)

BARTOLO.

Upon my honour, this is a pretty state of things. Clockwork for life, I suppose! It's monstrous — outrageous! What's to become of Nita, and, above all, what's to become of me?

NITA.

Well, a nice mess you've made of this; to go and lose the only thing that could bring us back to life again. What do you mean by it, you ridiculous old donkey?

PIETRO. What is the matter with you? What do you want?

NITA. Well, if I'm to be Ophelia for the rest of my life, it would be convenient to know what Ophelia did.

BARTOLO. She coaxed Hamlet, a good deal.

PIETRO. Nothing of the kind; she committed suicide because Hamlet wouldn't marry her.

NITA. What — lately?

PIETRO. Lately! Several hundred years ago. (NITA and BARTOLO turn and walk rapidly up stage.) Where are you going?

NITA. We're going back several hundred years.

PIETRO. It's not necessary. You can do it here. (NITA begins to cry.) What are you crying for? What in the world does it matter? I shall be dead.

BARTOLO. I see a way out of it. If Hamlet had married Ophelia she wouldn't have committed suicide.

PIETRO. Well? What then?

BARTOLO. What then? Why, if I marry her at once the motive for the act will be removed!

PIETRO. Nonsense! Hamlet and Ophelia never married. It would be trifling with the text.

BARTOLO. Anyhow, it's a new reading. What! am I to be the only Hamlet who is not permitted to discover new readings? Bah!

N° 26 - TRIO. — NITA, BARTOLO, and PIETRO.

PIETRO. Ophelia was a dainty little maid,
Who loved a very melancholy Dane;
Whose affection of the heart, so it is said,
Preceded his affection of the brain.
Heir-apparent to the Crown,
He thought lightly of her passion,
Having wandered up and down,
In an incoherent fashion,
When she found he wouldn't wed her
In a river, in a meadder,
Took a header, and a deader
Was Ophelia!

ALL. When she found he wouldn't wed her, etc.

NITA. Ophelia to her sex was a disgrace,
Whom nobody could feel compassion for.
Ophelia should have gone to Ely Place
To consult an eminent solicitor.
When such promises as these Breaks a suitor, rich and regal,
Why, substantial damages
Is the panacea legal —
From a jury — sons of Adam,
Though as stony as Macadam,
Maid or madam, she's have had 'em
Would Ophelia!

ALL. From a jury — sons of Adam, etc.

BARTOLO. There's a venerable proverb in my mind,
Which applies to this catastrophe, I think,
To a horse who is unfortunately blind
Any nod is just as good as any wink.

Opportunity I'll seize
Of avoiding any error;
Of substantial damages
I have always had a terror.
That calamity to parry
Not a moment will I tarry,
Off I'll carry and I'll marry
Poor Ophelia!
That calamity to parry, etc.

ALL.

[Exeunt BARTOLO and NITA. As they go off, PIETRO slyly steals their respective keys, and goes off triumphantly in opposite direction.]

Enter TERESA — now quite mad.

N<sup>o</sup> 27 - FINALE OF ACT II.

TERESA.
Hope lived, and free from fear
Love sang her roundelay. La, la, la!
Hope died, and at his bier
Love pined away. La, la, la!
For Love and Hope are one
In joy and pain,
And naught beneath the sun
Shall make them twain. La, la, la!

Enter ULTRICE.

ULTRICE.
Ha! false one!
Thou knowest now
The torture of a love that's gone astray!

TERESA.
Ah! spare me!

ULTRICE.
Thou knowest now
The fate of those who will not when they may!

TERESA.
Ah! spare me!

Alfredo!
My pride is bowed,
And humbled is my head.
Who could be proud
Whom thou has banished?
A fugitive,
O love, from thy decree,
Why should I live
If I am dead to thee!
Thou will forget

Thy love of old —
My sun has set,
My tale is told!

(turning to ULTRICE.) Ere deathly cold
I lie in yonder strand,
Ah, let me hold
The hand that is his hand; (taking her hand.)
Ere lost I be
In yonder cold eclipse,
Vouchsafe to me
The lips that are his lips!
(kissing ULTRICE, who remains motionless.)
May he forget
His love of old —
Her sun has set,
Her tale is told!

Goes upstage and mounts parapet overhanging the river. She is about to throw herself off when ULTRICE, who has been struggling with her better feelings, relents.

ULTRICE. Hold! Stay your hand! Teresa, come to me;
My soul is softened and my heart is stirred!
Come to me quickly — I have wrongèd thee.
Pardon, Teresa, I have greatly erred!

TERESA. Ultrice! (She rushes to her arms.)

ULTRICE. Take heart, take heart, for thou shall righted be;
Live — for thy love shall be restored to thee!
Come hither, all!

Enter all the characters from different directions, PIETRO in great agony.

CHORUS. Now, what is this, and what is that?
We wish to go to yonder valley.
What do you want? what are you at?
Explain your conduct generally!

ULTRICE. Proud of my new-born rank
Which raised me from my clan,
From yonder mountebank
I stole the talisman!

She produces it. PIETRO clutches at it.

ALL. Ah, false one!
From yonder mountebank

She stole the talisman!

[Exit ULTRICE.

PIETRO. Another minute and my fate were sealed!
A light — quick — quick! — my fortune for a light!

A light is given to him — he burns the parchment.

The parchment burns — my tortures slowly yield —
'Tis gone! and with it our distorted plight!

Gong — all change to their original characters: the Monks becoming brigands, MINESTRA becoming a young woman, ALFREDO and ULTRICE becoming peasants, BARTOLO and NITA are restored to humanity, and PIETRO recovers his health. ALFREDO embraces TERESA.

CHORUS. Hurrah!
The spell's removed,
Hurrah!
The {men we/girls they} loved,
Hurrah!
Are {ours/theirs} again,
Hurrah!
With might and main,
Hurrah!

ARROSTINO. The Duke and the Duchess, when they travel through the land,
How the pair they will stare, with their high jerry ho!
They will yet fall a prey to the valour of our band,
For we shall not be happy till we get them;
With our high jerry ho!
And our canticle pedantical,
And our mystic, though artistic,
Jerry high, jerry ho!

ALL. With their high jerry ho! etc.

PIETRO, BARTOLO, and NITA.
The Duke and the Duchess, had they travelled through our land,
With their cries of surprise and their high jerry ho!
They'd have seen many things that they wouldn't understand;
Not the least is our show, you may bet them —
With our high jerry ho!
And our clickings and our tickings —
Our emphatic automatic
Jerry high, jerry ho!

ALL. With their high jerry ho! etc.

ALFREDO and TERESA.

The Duke and the Duchess, if they travel through our land,
As they may, any day, with their high jerry ho!
They will find that we're linked, heart in heart, hand in hand,
And a loving example we'll set them,
With our high jerry ho!
And our notion of devotion,
And our gentle sentimental
Jerry high, jerry ho!
With their high jerry ho! etc.

ALL.

CURTAIN.
